Attention of the Human Resources Department,

My name is Lydia, and I have recently completed my Higher Studies in Multiplatform Application Development. I am very interested in becoming part of your company, as I believe it offers the ideal environment to start my professional career in the IT field.

I consider myself a responsible and proactive person, with strong soft skills such as leadership, teamwork, and effective communication. I can work well under pressure and enjoy solving problems in creative and efficient ways. My social skills help me to adapt easily to different work environments and collaborate successfully with others.

I chose the path of computer science because technology has always fascinated me, and I want to keep learning while working in this dynamic sector. During my studies, I achieved excellent academic results and successfully completed several group projects and internships. I believe that my motivation, dedication, and enthusiasm make me a strong candidate for your company.

In the future, I look forward to contribute to your company's growth by bringing innovation, teamwork, and continuous improvement. Thank you very much for your time and attention. I would be pleased to attend an interview if my profile matches your requirements.

Sincerely,

Lydia López
